

Pop-up Notification Threads

We have recently become aware of suspected cases of trademark infringement and potential fraudulent activities involving the unauthorized use of YesAsia Holdings trademark. The profile in question is hosted on Threads and can be accessed via the following URLs:

<https://www.threads.com/@nadeemgraphic1133>

<https://www.threads.com/@samdoll968>

(collectively referred to as the “Suspected Accounts”)

The Suspected Accounts bear domain name, company name, trade name and trade mark similar to that of “YesAsia Holdings Limited” (“YesAsia Holdings”) and its registered trade mark “YESASIA HOLDINGS”.

We hereby clarify and emphasize that the Suspected Accounts are not operated by YesAsia Holdings Limited (02209.HK) and its subsidiaries (the “Group”). The Group does not have any connection or relationship with the Suspected Accounts and has not authorised the Suspected Accounts to use any of the Group’s information, company names, trade names, trade marks, logos and/or brand names in the Suspected Accounts. The Group shall not be responsible for the information contained in, nor transactions conducted via the Suspected Accounts.

Customers are advised to visit and place orders with the official website of YesAsia Holdings at <https://www.yesasiaholdings.com> and contact us (ir@yesasiaholdings.com) if necessary. Customers and public shareholders are also advised to take utmost care in ensuring that their correspondence are directed to the Group via our official channel, instead of through any e-mail or other addresses, or any telephone or fax numbers, specified in such Suspected Accounts.

YesAsia Holdings Limited

25 July, 2025